

SEX TRAFFICKING IN HOTELS

Traffickers use hotels to apply their trade and are very transient. This enables them to avoid detection of law enforcement and also allows them to isolate the victims from their friends and families.

The ability to pay for rooms in cash or to change rooms or hotel locations on a nightly basis can make it easy for pimps and traffickers to avoid detection

Eliminating hotels as a venue for traffickers to operate, can help disrupt traffickers' business and significantly disrupt and dismantle trafficking rings.

CONSEQUENCES OF Staying Silent

Why should you report?

IT'S THE RIGHT THING TO DO!

You might be the last person to save this victim's life from a horrific situation that might result in serious injury and sometimes death

CONSEQUENCES OF Staying Silent

YOU CAN PREVENT:

1. Further victimization of young females
2. Offenders committing criminal acts in hotels
3. Potential damage to hotel rooms
4. Home-invasion-style robberies being committed against female victims in hotel rooms with firearms and other weapons
5. Serious risk to other hotel patrons due to criminal activity
6. Civil liability due to injuries caused by criminal activity
7. Loss of reputation to the general public that will affect their hotel revenue
